105 Seniors Will Graduate Thursday Night

CLASS IS SECOND LARGEST IN THE SCHOOL HISTORY

President F. J. Emeny of Board of Education To Give Out Diplomas

EIGHT GRADUATES ARE THE SPEAKERS

Alumni Banquet Friday Night to Close Commencement Week

The second largest class of graduates in the history of Salem High school will receive their diplomas at the 64th annual commencement exercises of the school Thursday night at the High school auditorium.

The roll of the class of 1928 carries 105 students who will receive certificates from Frederick J. Emeny, president of the board of education, signifying that their work in Salem High school is completed.

Eight members of the class have been selected as speakers for commencement night. Elizabeth McKee will speak on the subject, "On the Altar of Freedom"; Walter Denning, "What Price Freedom?"; George Ruzgy, "The Major Aid to Medical Progress"; Anna Ruth Miller, "The New Woman"; Louise Smith, "The Saving Sense of Humor"; Wayne Morron, "Modern Justice"; "The Significance of the Constitution," Charles Wilhelm; "The Appeal of the Motion Picture," Edith Flickinger.

The invocation will be given by Rev. C. E. Haworth. Vocal solos will be given by Flora Seckels and Ruth Moff. W. Fletcher Simpson, principal, will read the roll call of the class and the diplomas will be presented by Mr. Emeny. Music will be furnished by the High school orchestra.

The week's commencement activities will come to a close with the annual alumni banquet and reunion at the Memorial building Friday night when the graduates will be the guests of the alumni association.

Due to illness and absence of members of the board of education, and the death of W. F. Church, a sufficient number for a quorum failed to appear for the meeting last night, and no business was transacted. Superintendent of Schools John S. Alan announced that the members named on the class roll will be graduated provided that they have 16 credits Thursday before commencement.

Students receiving their diplomas Thursday will be:

MARSHAL CHANG DIES OF WOUNDS REPORTS STATE

Death Unconfirmed, Tokio And London Say; Was Fleeing Peking

DICTATOR RULED NORTH TWO YEARS

Aided Japanese During Russo-Jap War; Powerful Chinese Figure

BULLETIN
Tokio, June 5.—Word was received here tonight that Marshal Chang Tso Lin, former dictator of the Peking government, had not died of wounds received in Manchuria, as reported, but that he was in a critical condition last night. An unconfirmed report was received from Mukden this morning that Chang had died of injuries received when his train was bombed just outside of Mukden yesterday.

Marshal Chang Tso Lin, former dictator of the North China government at Peking and long one of the most spectacular figures in the political and military activities of northern China and Manchuria, is dead of wounds received when his train was bombed near Mukden, according to unconfirmed reports reaching Tokio and London.

Chang was in flight from Peking to Mukden when the attack was made.

Nationalists (South China forces) are now in complete control of all China. They are occupying Peking, and Peking reports that heavy forces are moving upon Tien-Tsin, the port of Peking, the seat of a large foreign colony and an international garrison.

Former troops at Tien-Tsin, including Americans, have established a strong guard around the foreign settlement and the waterworks.

Nationalist leaders at Shanghai declare that Peking will be stripped of all its old time power and that the seat of national government in China will be removed to Nanking, the present southern capital.

Japan has strengthened the guard along the Manchurian frontier but so far the Nationalists have given no indication that they plan to invade that country. With the bulk of the northern army remaining around Peking the southerners could not invade Manchuria on the pretext that they were pursuing their enemies.

Taking remains quiet, although there has been a gigantic exodus of Chinese residents.

No Confirmation Yet
London, June 5.—Marshal Chang Tso Lin, war lord of the northern Chinese forces and for two years dictator of Peking, has succumbed to the injuries he received when the

Hail Important Role Played By Plane's Wireless

San Francisco, June 5.—In the epic flight of the Southern Cross over the broad Pacific, stretching between Hawaii and Suva, Fiji Islands, radio experts here today claimed a new and most significant demonstration of the important role which wireless has assumed in the history of air travel.

Throughout the entire space of 34 and a half hours, during which the huge monoplane was cutting a pioneer air path over the wide ocean, its radio apparatus poured forth to a watching world an unbroken series of messages, furnishing a graphic account of its progress.

Never throughout the unprecedented flight were the four hardy adventurers of the air, who comprise the crew of the Southern Cross, isolated.

The faithful performance of the radio set abroad the plane in the air dash from California to Honolulu was repeated and surpassed by its steady efficiency and unfailing endurance during the longest ocean hop yet written into the pages of aviation history.

NECESSARY TO REPAIR LEAK IN GAS TANK

'Southern Cross' May Not Take Off Again Until Friday

Suva, Fiji Islands, June 5.—Triumphant in their epic 3,100 mile dash from Hawaii to the Fiji Islands the four members of the crew of the giant tri-motored monoplane, Southern Cross turned their attention here today to the problem of finding a suitable place for a takeoff on the next leg of their daring attempt to link the continents of North America and Australia by air.

Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith, commander of the air expedition, told a group of friends this afternoon that the plane, which so faithfully carried him and his three companions over more than 5,500 miles of sea in two hops, would be unable to lift its weight off the ground at Albert park, where the huge craft landed at 2:20 p. m. (Fiji time) yesterday.

Inspects Several Beaches
The tanks of the Southern Cross, Capt. Kingsford-Smith declared, will be loaded with 900 gallons of gasoline for the takeoff to Brisbane, Australia, 1,700 miles from here. The weight of the plane will be too much to allow it to clear the ground in the short runway at Albert park, the flight commander said adding that he would personally inspect several beaches and flats in the colony to discover a stretch of ground where a takeoff could be made.

The four courageous airmen of the Southern Cross—Capt. Kingsford-Smith, Capt. Charles T. P. Uim, Harry W. Lyon and James Warner—will probably not start on the third leg of their air journey until Friday.

The runway in the park is only 400 yards long and 75 yards wide. This condition, it was pointed out, while suitable for a landing, renders it difficult for a huge craft, loaded with a fuel supply for a long-distance flight, to lift its weight from the ground.

10,000 People Greet Airmen
The runway is situated close to the shore and is backed by groups of houses and nearby hills. At the takeoff end, a shoreline road threads its way, immediately beyond which there is the ocean.

The cheers of Fiji islanders inhabiting today were still ringing in the ears of the four daring airmen.

A roaring crowd of 10,000 spectators, composed of both white people and natives, swarmed to the park (Continued on Page 1)

Motorist Placed In Jail to Cool Down Pairs Parking Fine
Joseph Bahr, E. Tenth st., pleaded guilty to a charge of left-hand parking this morning and was fined $10 and costs by Mayor Phil Hiddleston.

Bahr's auto was ticketed by Patrolman Ralph Steffer for three different violations in 10 minutes May 17, police say, but he failed to appear in court. Steffer was detailed to bring him into court to answer to the charges. He became abusive, Hiddleston said, so he was lodged in jail for 30 minutes to "cool down."

Upon payment of the fine he was released.

With the completion of the breast of the dam, water will be run into it to cover approximately 500 acres. In a year's time the dam will be filled and the park ready for use as planned by the state association, which also notified the governing board that 65,000 bass will be placed into the lake as soon as it begins to fill the dam.

HAMMILL LEADS FOR GOVERNOR

Iowa Incumbent Seeking Third Term On Bond Issue For Roads

Des Moines, Ia., June 5.—Incomplete returns from precincts scattered well over the state today gave John Hammill, Republican incumbent, a lead that is expected to re-nominate him for the governorship of Iowa by an overwhelming vote.

Hammill, who is the leading political advocate of a $100,000,000 bond issue to pave Iowa's roads, is seeking a third term as governor.

His leading rivals, former state senator, M. L. Bowman and state senator, Lars J. Skirumme, both opponents of the bond issue, were lagging far behind Hammill in the early returns.

The Republican nomination for a state office in Iowa is tantamount to election.

CLEAN THEM UP

At this season of the year Ohio takes to the open road. Anything on wheels, which will carry one to some distant point, and return, is pressed into service. The open road calls. Touring is one of the great out-door sports.

But there is one thing which the tourist encounters in his wanderings that should be remedied before the season is much older. That is the dirty side-of-the-road lunch stand—the hot dog emporium and the soft drink place.

Nowadays these lunch rooms, or stands, are to be found every few hundred feet. They spring up, mushroom-like, on every highway and byway. Some are ornate—resplendent in immaculate coats of paint. Others disgrace the communities in which they are located, and are a sad commentary on the laws of the state which regulate eating places.

It is an easy matter to keep these lunch stands clean. Less paint on the outside and more elbow grease on the inside will do away with much of the filth which is permitted to accumulate, attracting flies and menacing the motoring public, not only of Ohio, but of other states.

If the general public will not patronize such objectionable roadside eating places, they will thrive for only a few days and will disappear for lack of business. But the public does not get much of a glance into the interiors of these places. Many motorists stop at the roadside, and are served. Thus the owner of the filthy eating place gets away with a violation of the law, and may be responsible for starting an epidemic.

The city and state can enforce the letter of the law and compel owners to keep these places clean, or close them. It is time now to get busy.

THE SUMMER WHITE HOUSE

President Coolidge will vacation this summer on the Brule river, some 35 miles or thereabouts from Superior, Wis. This summer White House will be Cedar Island Lodge, owned by the estate of Henry Clay Pierce.

While no definite date has been fixed so far by Mr. Coolidge for his vacation, one may presume with safety, no doubt, that the executive already is looking over his tackle and bait box and dreaming an occasional day dream of the bolsters of trout which are said to inhabit the waters in and about Cedar Island Lodge.

On his vacation last year, Mr. Coolidge went to the Black Hills in the Dakotas, and there, between times of posing in cowboy regalia and extending the glad hand of welcome to a lot of tourists who routed themselves through the Black Hills just to get a chance to bother the president, he found recreation in the streams thereabouts and attained no small prominence as an angler.

The Wisconsin territory where Mr. Coolidge will summer, is entirely different from that which he saw in the Dakotas. Where there was pastoral farm lands around the Black Hills, there will be virgin forests surrounding his summer White House. But the daily routine of the president at Cedar Island Lodge promises to vary little, if any, from that he followed last summer in the Black Hills.

What Others Say

WHAT A HORSE!

It seems a bit unkind for the Daily Science News Bulletin to headline its report on Lady to the effect that she is a "telepathic horse." This makes it seem that Lady performs her miracles merely by mind reading, whereas the investigations might well prove that she understands English, arithmetic and mathematics on her own account. For Lady, a colt owned by Mrs. C. D. Fenda, of Richmond, Va., when examined by Dr. Rhine and Prof. McDougall, of Duke university, picked out indicated blocks added simple sums and read numbers written on a pad.

To make certain that no signals passed between the colt and her owner, the savants even sent Mrs. Fonda from the tent, but until Lady became conscious of her friend's absence she worked just as well without her. She was able to pass the tests when, by use of screens, she could see nothing but what the Bulletin modestly calls "the lower extremities of the observers."

It is true, as the Bulletin mentions, that these inspired beasts have tricks of their own which baffle investigators. There are clever Hans, for instance. Clever Hans used to watch the head of the person for whom he was counting; when the head was unconsciously lowered Clever Hans would begin his tally, when it was unconsciously raised he knew the game was over. A long time was required to discover that Clever Hans wasn't quite playing cricket—New York Times.

MOTORISTS WHO RAM TRAINS

In addressing the safety and traffic division of the Detroit Automobile club, R. E. Laidlaw, superintendent of the Detroit division of the Michigan Central, reported that 69 per cent of the accidents at M. C. crossings last year occurred at protected crossings, and that 49 per cent of these were caused by motorists who drove through lowered gates and crashed into the sides of passing trains. And since the total number of accidents at Michigan Central crossings in 1927 was 676, this means that about 235 drivers were guilty of an almost incredible heedlessness, and plainly were violators of a traffic law which says that motorists must reduce their speed to ten miles an hour, at least 100 feet from a railroad track. As a matter of fact, the motorist who observes that rule—unless he is operating a motorbus—is a real curiosity of the highway.

Grade separations are highly desirable and in many instances are absolutely necessary, and they are being made steadily. But at best the work of building a complete system will take considerable time, even if limited to main thoroughfares, and always there will be some roads where warning signals will be the only safety devices. And if there is to be any sharp reduction of the number of crossing accidents in the near future a whole lot of drivers must learn to use a little ordinary human sense.—Detroit Free Press.

FIGURES CAN'T TELL

The estimate can not be accurate, but why care when the value of Thomas A. Edison's inventions is appraised at more than $15,000,000,000?

When the house of representatives committee on coinage, weights and measures recommended award to Edison of a gold medal authorized by joint resolution, it submitted these figures of approximate values of Edison's inventions and industries stimulated by them:

- Motion pictures, $1,250,000,000.
- Telephones, $1,000,000,000.
- Electric railways, $6,500,000,000.
- Electric lighting, $5,000,000,000.
- Electric supplies, $857,000,000.
- Pictures, $37,000,000.
- Phonographs, $105,000,000.
- Car shops, $109,000,000.
- Dynamamos and motors, $100,000,000.
- Batteries, $5,000,000.
- Concrete, $271,000,000.
- Telegraph, $350,000,000.
- Wireless telegraph, $15,000,000.
- The total is $15,599,000,000.

That is an impressive figure and yet no appraisal of the value to mankind of Edison's inventions can be made in dollars. They contribute in a thousand ways to our comfort, convenience, security, pleasure and prosperity.—Toledo Blade.

ORGAN OF HEARING IS DAINTY MACHINE

By Royal S. Copeland, M. D.
United States Senator from New York, former Commissioner of Health, New York City

The modern teacher attempts to fill the mind of each of her pupils with accurate and common sense information. Of course, the child does not always get exactly the right idea of what the teacher intends to convey.

DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

For instance, a 12-year-old friend of mine was discussing with me the other day what had been taught him about gallstones. He told me the teacher said a alcohol would dissolve them. But when I suggested that perhaps this is an argument against the Volstead Act, he hastened to say the treatment is useful for children only and would do harm to grown people. Then he added that he might be mistaken about the particular drug, possibly it was not alcohol the teacher mentioned.

Of course, it wasn't but it is just this way ideas get started. Somebody misunderstands or fails to remember exactly what was said about some ailment. He passes on to others his mistaken notion and pretty soon all the world may hold to a false notion.

Most people believe that a foreign body in the ear may "work its way into the brain." This is a silly idea, absolutely without foundation. What does happen, however, is that ignorant and awkward efforts to remove

The Stars Say—

For Wednesday, June 6,

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE.

A DAY of conflicting planetary conditions may be responsible for complications, unsatisfactory situations and events in the trend of human activities. There may arise stubborn obstacles to thwart and negative the finest initiative and efforts; nevertheless the best advice is to forge ahead steadily with all plans and lay foundations for future constructive work since the judgment will be good and the ideas worth development. But avoid extravagance and personal indiscretions.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of difficulty and post-ponements of constructive effort, but they should pursue their plans diligently and hopefully, aiming for future results. The mind may be found enterprising and the ideas good, but shun all extravagances and indiscretions, personal and business. A child born on this day may be clever and enterprising but may have to work persistently and patiently to outgrow its excellent ideas. It should be grounded in thrift and wise use of its substance. Also care in its personal relations.

Man's soul is made up of the same elements as the stars.—'arcelus.

it are likely to drive the thing deeper and deeper into the ear canal.

At the bottom of the canal is the ear drum, a delicate membrane which guards the middle ear. If roughness and unskillful efforts are used to remove the foreign body, it may be pushed down against the drum and may even rupture the membrane. This causes pain and real harm.

Sometimes, in the mistaken idea that a foreign body had entered the ear, an overzealous friend in his efforts to remove it, has actually destroyed the drum, and scraped out the little bones. Damage which can never be repaired may be done in a few minutes.

There is a funny old saying attributed to a wise doctor, that "nothing should be put in the ear except the point of the elbow." That is good advice for the layman.

There are times, of course, when for one reason or another, when the doctor cannot be reached, it is advisable to remove the foreign body. If that emergency arises, gentle syringing is all you should attempt. Warm water and a gentle flow of the fluid into and out of the ear, will probably accomplish the desired result. But no force should be used. Fainting and pain will follow undue force.

The best plan is to go to the doctor, and there is no particular hurry about that, because the foreign body will not stir if it is left alone.

No Need to Suffer Another Day

There is one simple yet inexpensive way to reduce inflammation of swollen toe joints and help get them down to normal and that is to apply Moone's Emerald Oil night and morning.

Ask Lease Drug Co., Floding Drug Store, Bolger & Pruech or any first class druggist for an original two-ounce bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength) and refuse to accept anything in its place. It is such a highly concentrated preparation that two ounces lasts a long time and furthermore if one bottle of Emerald Oil does not give you complete satisfaction you can have your money refunded.

Special note: People who want to reduce swollen or varicose veins should get a bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil at once. Applied night and morning as directed they will quickly notice an improvement which will continue until the veins and bunches are reduced to normal.

TOURIST CRISIS FACING LONDON; "NEAR DRY" CITY

Want to Let Down Bars
So Americans Can Have Time As In Paris

London, June 5.—London is in the throes of a tourist crisis. A heated controversy is raging among various sections of the population on the question of whether this city should take active steps to emulate the examples of Paris and other continental cities in order to attract the profitable American tourist and the money he flings about with such wild abandon when on a visit to Europe.

Great Britain gets a large number of tourists each year, but most of them come only to see places of historic interest. The fact that Paris, with its boulevards, its cafes and its hectic night-life appeals so strongly to the average American, has aroused jealousy in the hearts of some of the English, and there is considerable agitation for the letting down of certain bars in order to provide visitors with a gay time while they are in London.

London long ago earned the title of a sordid city, and it is proud of the fact. Efforts have often been made to stage in it some riotous party, and always there have been serious protests.

Night Clubs Different
Night clubs in London are totally different from those of New York and Paris. To begin with, their membership is limited—one must be introduced by a member and pay in initiation fee before he can partake of its pleasures.

When this formality has been gone through, the tourist finds still another obstacle to his enjoyment. Intoxicating liquors, under the law, cannot be sold after 11 o'clock at night, except on special occasions, when they may be sold until midnight.

"That's easy," declares the American visitor, "let's buy enough to last out the evening before they put the lid down."

But easier said than done. For when the creaking sounds, all glasses must be emptied, and even the most ardent cannot hope to keep a surfeit of bottles beneath the table for the headwaiters know that such a violation of law would result in the suspension of his license and the imposition of a heavy fine if it were discovered by the authorities.

Nor is the enforcement of Great Britain's liquor laws such an empty gesture as that of the United States. Raids upon night-clubs are frequent and nattily-attired plain-clothesmen hob-nob with merry-makers at all the resorts. To escape their all-seeing eye is an impossibility, and even the most riotous visitor finds within a very short time that he must obey the law.

Standing Joke
There is a standing joke among Americans in London that "prohibition" in this country is worse than at home.

"In America," they say, "at least you can get a drink at any hour of the day or night."

In this country, the hours are restricted, and the law is enforced.

Conditions such as these have left but one course to the American visitor—sightseeing. In London and its environs, in the Midlands, the North or on the Southern coast, he will find beauty spots unparalleled anywhere in the world, and historic places fall over one another in profusion. But for gaiety, particularly of the kind that is accompanied by incandescent lights and the popping of corks, he must go to Paris.

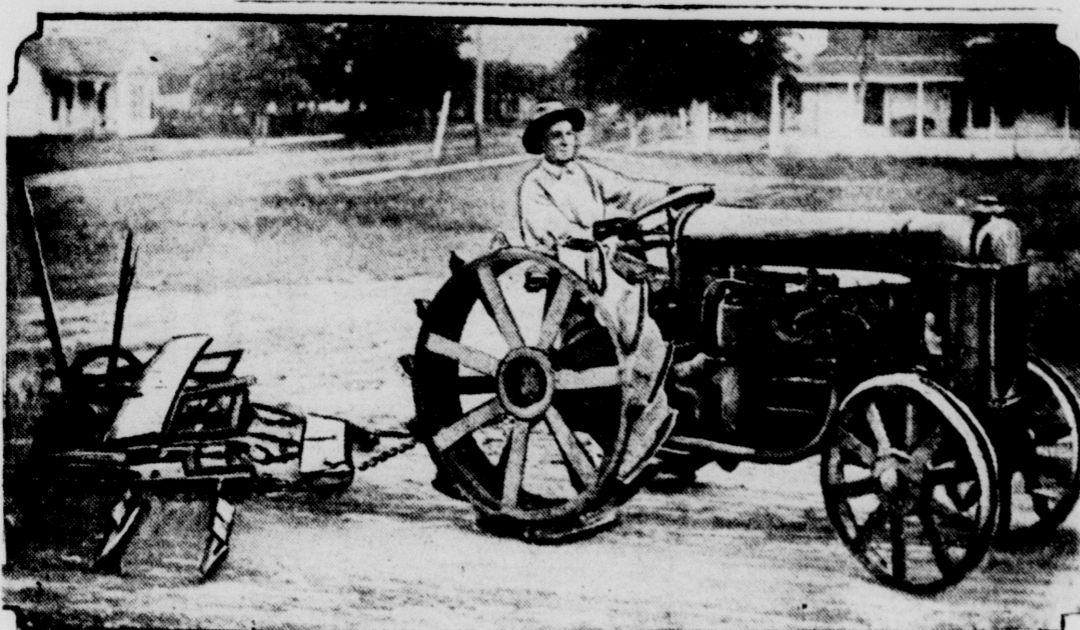

For this reason, certain factions, bearing in mind the huge revenue gained by France from the tourist population, are making strenuous efforts to make gaiety a cheaper luxury here than it is today. They would like to eliminate the police-imposed "membership lists" in the cafes, and they would like to postpone the closing hours and the time when liquor must cease to be sold. But their efforts are meeting with opposition, and it is not regarded as probable that they will succeed.

Gives Up His Life of Ease To Bring About Real Spotless Town

You've all heard of Spotless Town—perhaps you have wondered where it is—or if there was such a place. Well, there most certainly is, and it is located in Marietta, Okla.

There's no getting away from the fact that Marietta is just about the cleanest little town in the world.

You can't find a speck of dirt anywhere.

Credit for polishing up the pleasant township must go to George Burnitt, who owns 500 acres of land in Love county, and could spend his winters in Florida and his summers in Canada, if he wanted to, without worrying over the cost.

But instead of devoting the rest of his life to pleasure, Mr. Burnitt has dedicated his time to keeping Marietta spotless.

He was elected commissioner of streets a short while ago, and the next day he was right on the job with broom and dump cart. And now, with a helper, he scours the streets of this village twice a day.

Burnitt himself pays the salary of his assistant, and turns over his own official pay envelope to charity.

In spite of the nature of his work, Burnitt insists on wearing his diamonds on the job, and the three-carat rings on the street-sweeper's hands have often puzzled visitors.

"without blood and without money," and the constant bleeding has made them incapable of heavy manual labor for life.

The names of the patients whose lives are often saved by the blood transfusions are kept secret from the "bleeders" in order to prevent later money requests. Personal gratitude is therefore unable to help them.

Recently, the "bleeders" tried to organize a union in order to raise the price of their blood, but the effort failed and the "bleeders" trade is therefore still run on the open shop principle.

World Nations Give Soldiers of Army

Washington, June 5.—The United States army, symbol of American nationalism, is revealed by recent studies as perhaps the most cosmopolitan institution in the land. Thirty-four nations have contributed to the existing commissioned personnel of the regular army. India, China, Japan, Latvia, Syria, Brazil, Finland and Australia are among the countries listed in a recent General Staff tabulation of officers' native lands. In many cases, the foreign birthplace indicates sons of army officers, born to parents on foreign duty, but the majority represent naturalized aliens.

Among the 11,378 active officers, 188 came from the far flung British empire, and about 125 others, from every other named spot on the globe. Germany tops the list, with 36, and Persia is at the bottom with 1.

Native American officers come from every state of the union, in rough proportion to the distribution of population. New York, the most populous state, has given 996, and Nevada, 10.

HIGHER MORALS CHIEF CAUSE OF "DIVORCE EVIL"

That Is What Sociologist
Thinks; Family Life
More Successful

Chicago, June 5.—Higher standards of morality are the chief cause of the much discussed "divorce evil," in the opinion of Dr. F. K. Fetz, former head of the sociology department of Temple university, Philadelphia.

Two other major causes for divorce are cited by Dr. Fetz:

Industrialism which gives married women their economic independence and removes the financial necessity which formerly kept marriages from going on the rocks.

Late marriages, entered into after the participants have become set in their habits and ideas.

Family life, Dr. Fetz believes, is not less successful than it was 30 or 40 years ago, but more so.

"Divorce is a sign that the wife of today demands more than she did a few years ago from her husband."

Conditions Changed

"The whole fabric of marriage has been changed. A few years ago a lot of things were overlooked. Why? Because the wife was not in a position to object to a lot of things, and people lived together unapparently, partly because of the stigma once attached to divorce, and partly because of financial necessity."

"Things once were overlooked which now are valid grounds in nearly every state for divorce."

"The higher standards of morality and family life in general lead to dissatisfaction."

The Philadelphia sociologist believes the divorce laws of the present day are overblown for breaking up homes. Instead, he says, they are a healthy sign of awakened morality.

"All year round the newly married couple live under the same roof, occupy the same room and eat the same food. At first there is a rapturous feeling of delight. Then comes a change. The decline of romance, the passing of novelty and the period of disillusionment is a critical epoch. The woman loses her halo. The man falls from his pedestal."

"Every imaginable form of marriage contract has been tried at some time, yet there is none that will insure happiness for all."

"We are now facing a new problem, of companionate marriage that really is little other than common law marriage, working dire injustice on womankind and making men polygamous without financial responsibility."

Working Wives

The new order of "working wives" is blamed by Dr. Fetz with a large responsibility in the divorce question. With their own money, wives now are financially independent of their husbands, he points out. When they have a slight difficulty, that feeling of independence causes them to seek divorce immediately. He lists financial freedom as one of the influences tending instability of the marriage contract.

Both men and women should be married before the age of 30, according to Dr. Fetz. After that, in his opinion, it is difficult for two persons to adapt themselves to each other.

"The elasticity of youth is one of the greatest insurances to marital compatibility. But as man or woman becomes set in habits and temperament, there is greater chance for an irreparable clash of views and dispositions."

Her Dreadful Past

The amazing true story of a girl patricide

Convicted, an outcast, marked for life with the brand of patricide.

PERHAPS you recall reading in the newspapers the case of Gretchen. It was the piteous, sordid story of a girl who poisoned her father—and then, at her trial, steadfastly refused to utter a word in her own defense, preferring punishment rather than describe the terrible details of the soul-destroying life he had forced upon her.

You read of her conviction and incarceration. There, apparently, the story ended. But really it was only the beginning of one of the most amazing human dramas ever enacted.

Jefferson County Excitement High As Home Is Dynamited

Steubenville, June 5.—Jefferson county was seething with excitement today following the reported attempt of "union sympathizers" to dynamite a home of a coal official and the firing of a volley of shots into the barracks of the Clarkson Coal company's mine at Dun Glen, near here.

According to reports at the sheriff's office here, an attempt was made to dynamite the home of James Ashinwell, 50, assistant manager of the Wheeling and Lake Erie Coal company.

The explosive was placed some distance from the dwelling and did but slight damage to the house. No members of the family were hurt.

yesterday to witness the landing of the huge silver-winged plane.

The landing of the Southern Cross was described by air experts here who witnessed it as perfect. So great was the enthusiasm of the crowds at the field that it took all the resources of the colonial police to restrain them from virtually mobbing the four aviators.

Hawaii Celebrates

Honolulu, June 5.—All Hawaii joined today in a mammoth celebration commemorating the successful flight of the Southern Cross over the 3130 miles of unbroken Pacific waters between here and Suva, Fiji Islands.

The sturdy, tri-motored Fokker monoplane, with its gallant crew of four men, landed at Suva at 6:20 p. m. yesterday, Pacific coast time, after being in the air 34½ hours.

A large and enthusiastic crowd was on hand to greet the fliers, according to advices received here. The crew was worn to exhaustion by the ordeal but happy over accomplishing what is called "the most remarkable feat in aviation."

To the intrepid crew—Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith, C. T. O. Um, Harry W. Lyon and James Warner—goes the distinction of having negotiated the longest over-water flight ever made, the previous record being the 2400 miles between here and California.

Their performance in flying from Oakland, Calif., to Suva, Fiji Islands, nearly one quarter of the distance around the world, within a compass of five days, is believed to be a record.

The successful completion of the two dangerous long-distance hops leaves the fliers only 2300 miles from Sydney, Australia, the goal they set out to reach from Oakland, California. It is planned to accomplish the remaining mileage in two hops with Brisbane the next stopping place.

The fliers lose a day's time because of their crossing the international time meridian. It is now Wednesday in the Fiji Islands, and according to Suva time the fliers landed there at 3 o'clock this afternoon (Tuesday).

train in which he left the Chinese capital for Mukden, Manchuria, was wrecked by a bomb dispatches received here today from various sources stated.

According to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch received from Tokyo the Mukden correspondent of the Jijishunbun stated that the famous Chinese leader died last night.

The Japanese war-office at Tokyo was without confirmation of the reports of Chang's death.

Chang received his injuries in what was believed to have been a direct attempt to assassinate him. When it became evident that Peking would fall to the southern Chinese armies, Chang ordered an orderly evacuation of the city by his army into Manchuria.

He himself took a train to Mukden. Just before the train reached Mukden, a bomb was thrown which it was passing was blown up by a bomb.

Chang's career as a Chinese leader was extremely spectacular. For years he led a roving band of independent soldiers. During the Russo-Japanese war, he and his men fought on the side of Japan. His army swelled as the years rolled by and his prestige grew until two years ago he was powerful enough to establish himself as dictator at Peking.

COURT NEWS

BOTH COURTS IN OPERATION NEXT WEEK AT LISBON

Judge W. F. Lones has announced that cases listed for trial in the assignment just issued for the week of June 11 if the plaintiffs do not appear for trial, such cases will be dismissed providing the cases have been pending for two years or more and no disposition made. This means that all such cases will be dismissed for lack of prosecution.

All uncontested divorce cases assigned for next week will be heard on the day assigned without further notice. The court has declared that many cases in this list have been pending for a considerable length of time, and unless the plaintiff appears on the date assigned for the trial, the court will assume that the plaintiff does not desire to prosecute, and all such cases will be dismissed for lack of prosecution.

In uncontested divorce cases, the court has urged that plaintiffs with witnesses appear either at 9:30 a. m., or at 12:30 p. m.

Thirty cases have been assigned for trial before Judge Lones in common pleas No. 1 next week, and as Judge William Crow of Millersburg will preside in No. 2 court, and 25 cases have been listed for trial in that branch. Fourteen divorce cases have been assigned for trial in both courts next week.

The complete assignment for the two branches of common pleas next week is as follows:

Divorce Cases

Following several hours' preliminary conference between counsel, the divorce case of Maude Grove of Salem, against her husband, R. E. Grove went to trial before Judge W. F. Lones, but was not contested. A private agreement as to alimony was arranged previously.

The court granted a decree to the plaintiff on the charge of extreme cruelty, and entered judgment against Grove for the costs in the case. The custody of minor children was awarded Mrs. Grove.

The court approved the agreement for alimony, which is to be incorporated in the journal entry.

Sadie Floto of Wellsville, through her counsel, W. A. O'Grady, has filed an action for divorce in common pleas court against her husband Carl Floto, whom she married at Wellsburg, W. Va., Dec. 19, 1925.

On Dec. 24 the same year, Mrs. Floto recited in her petition the defendant when under the influence of liquor administered severe and violent beating to the plaintiff and upon which occasion the Wellsville police interfered. It is also recited by the plaintiff that upon eight different occasions since Floto struck and beat her again, and his arrest followed. He is also charged with pointing a revolver at her and threatening to discharge it. The charge of gross neglect of duty is made a part of the petition. Mrs. Floto asks that the court grant a restraining order against Floto from molesting the plaintiff, and that upon final hearing she be granted a decree, and other equitable relief.

Declaring that her husband threatened to burn their home, that he threatened to kill her and that he knocked her down and is guilty of gross neglect of duty, are allegations set forth in a petition for divorce filed in common pleas court by Helen Georgeon against her husband Gus Georgeon, East Liverpool.

The couple were married at Winnipeg, Can., June 14, 1920 and have one child. The defendant is also charged with gross neglect of duty, in that he has refused to contribute to the support of the plaintiff.

Georgeon, according to the petition owns real estate worth $7,600, and received $10 daily at his trade. A decree has been granted Mary M. Senior in her divorce action against her husband, Thomas Senior and the custody of minor has been awarded the plaintiff. Senior has been ordered by the court to pay his wife $5 per week, payable each two weeks for the support of his children.

Markets

STOCKS ARE DOWN

New York, June 5. — Monday's closing reaction was carried into the opening period today and stock prices were down from 2 to 9 points. Curtiss Aero declined 8½ points to 120¼; General Motors was down 2½ at 190; Chrysler Motor down 2½ at 79; Victor Talking down 3 at 92¼; General Electric down 2½ at 155¼; U. S. Steel down ½ at 142½; International Nickel down 2 at 94¼; Radio unchanged at 197; Sears Roebuck down 1½ at 105½; Kroger Grocery down 2½ at 94¼; New York Central down ½ at 180.

The federal reserve board's statement of policy in money market affairs, calling upon the banks to curtail speculative borrowing, brought further selling into the market in the first period today, and Monday's closing reaction was carried into this period. With the exception of a few of the specialties, prices held fairly steady from 1 to 3 points below Monday's close, though General Motors and Radio dipped about 4 points each on heavy selling pressure.

The New York stock exchange, in its monthly credit report, showed that brokers' loans from all sources had gone $278,000,000 beyond the five-billion-dollar mark, completing an expansion of $1,800,000 over the past 12 months. It was generally felt that the reserve board meant exactly what it said in its statement issued after the close of Monday's session, and would be able to enforce its "suggestion" to member banks to contract loans or sell securities.

The renewal rate on call money was 6½ per cent, a fractional decline from Monday's close, but a seven-year record for an initial 6½ per cent rate. The banks were not able to report an influx of outside money, despite the attractive terms now being offered for the use of funds in the speculative markets.

Though trading was in large volume in this period, and some of the speculative leaders were turned over quite rapidly, there was nothing approaching a serious break in the market, and in many cases moderate rallies were in evidence near the end of the first hour. The pools were inclined to extend support to their market favorites, and the "sold out bulls" were reported on the outlook for bargains in stocks which have shown the best power of resistance in recent selling.

Rallies in the industrial and specialty stocks were continued with good effect in the second hour. Radio recovered from 194 to 199, and showed a 2-point gain over Monday's close. United States Steel rallied to 143½ and recoveries of a point or more above Monday's final prices were scored by Studebaker, Nash, Consolidated Gas and other favorites. Chrysler was reactionary on reports that the merger with Dodge would not be put through until 90 per cent of Dodge stock had been deposited. Coppers held fairly steady, and the rails were inactive but firm.

By GEORGE E. HOLMES
Kansas City, June 5. — Herbert Hoover's candidacy stock was clearly in the ascendancy today—at least so far as Kansas City is concerned.

Admittedly possessed of more delegates than any other candidate, and victorious in their first real skirmish with "the enemy," the Hoover forces were militantly confident and alert today. Their watchword is "no relaxation."

The first of the seventy-odd delegate contests offered fairly conclusive proof that the Hoover managers are in command of the party machinery. The Hoover delegates in two states, Florida and Kentucky, have been seated over delegates listed in the field against the cabinet candidate.

The numerical value of the delegates themselves is perhaps less significant than the fact that in one instance an organization regular of nearly 20 years standing, George W. Bean of Florida, was unhorsed and placed outside the convention.

Act Was Decisive
It is a rare event in G. O. P. circles for an organization old-timer of Bean's type to be shunted aside. Yet it was done so decisively as to leave no doubt as to the strength of the Hoover organization in the governing body of the party.

Today the national committee continued its hearings of the contests. And there was every reason to believe that the Hoover forces would continue successful. The opposition mustered about everything it had in the Florida test—and lost.

It is doubtful if any presidential candidacy ever came up to a national convention any more efficiently and militantly organized than that of Hoover. A striking example of this was furnished in the first day's skirmishing before the national committee. The full strength of the national committee is 106 members. They sit as judge and jury over these seventy-odd delegate contests. The first roll call disclosed twenty-odd absentees, that is, members not represented by proxies.

Within an hour after the first roll call five of Hoover's managers had obtained proxies and were sitting on the jury that passed on the claims of the Hoover delegates to seats in the convention. Two of these were paid employees of the Hoover organization. That is a fair example of the alertness and efficiency of the Hoover organization. The motto seems to be "overlook no bet."

Alies Lack Opposition
The opposition to Hoover is admittedly strong and at the same time it is admittedly weak in organization. The anti-Hoover forces had the same opportunity to secure these proxies as did the Hoover managers. The fact that they did not is perhaps the best indication of the lack of organization and direction in the field against the secretary of commerce. It remains to be seen whether this opposition can be captured by the time the convention gets down to balloting, probably ten days from today. If it can be organized and centrally directed, they may "stop him." If not, the outlook from the opposition standpoint admittedly is not bright.

However, the anti-Hoover camp drew some small comfort from the fact that two of the real powers in the convention, Charles D. Hilles of New York, and Wm. M. Butler of Massachusetts, cast their votes against the seating of the Hoover delegates in New York, and Massachusetts and Pennsylvania necessary to the Hoover cause.

Butler's vote caused considerable comment. He is not only chairman of the national committee, but is popularly supposed to be President Coolidge's political oracle. The Hoover managers, however, pressed not to be disturbed over Butler's vote. They claim the 36 Bay states' votes as certainly for their man, and that includes Butler's vote, too. They credited Butler's vote for Bean as simply the action of the national chairman in supporting one of the members of his committee, and asserted it had no significance in the matter of the candidacy itself. They are under no such illusions as regards Hilles. He is definitely on the other side. Pennsylvania was absent, being represented neither actually nor by proxy.

Georgia, Louisiana and Mississippi contests were on the schedule today. The Hoover candidacy is an issue in all of them.

Five Members of Track Team Will Receive Diplomas

Commencement Takes Usual Toll of Stars; Allen, Roessler, Seeds, Herbert And Orasheim Leave; Many Left

Graduation will take its annual toll of Salem High star athletes this week when five members of the championship track team receive their diplomas Thursday night, ending their careers as representatives of Salem High.

Only the three of the graduating five won letters during the last track season, leaving as a nucleus for the 1929 aggregation, 13 lettersmen and 30 members of the year's squad who failed to win letters but were out the whole year.

Captain Keith Roessler, his pole vaulting "side-kick" Lowell E. Allen, and Arnold Seeds are the only letter-men graduating. Charles "Chic" Herbert, shot-putter, who was forced to leave school during track season after being exposed to scarlet fever, and Earl Orasheim, distance runner, are the other members leaving school this year via graduation.

Quartet Did Most Scoring

Roessler, Allen, Seeds, together with Herman "Legs" Litty, captain-elect formed the point gathering quartet of Salem High's team this season.

Allen was the most outstanding figure on the year's team, winning both national indoor and outdoor

HEENEY MOVES TRAINING CAMP

New Zealander Gets Set For Intensive Work For Title Scrap

New York, June 5.—The rugged old rock of down under, Thomas Heenev, is about to transfer his activities to his elegantly appointed summer training camp at Fairhaven, N. J., to polish up his boxing technique for the test to be administered by Professor Gene Tunney on July 26 at the Yankee stadium.

Heenev moves in at Fairhaven next Saturday and with him will go Squire John Mortimer and Phil Mercurio. The squire is Tom's best well and Mercurio is a sparring partner. The heavyweight challenger, being a man of deeds rather than words, has imported Squire Mortimer from England to handle the talking.

Heenev will not settle down to serious training until the first of next month. The New Zealander has been doing light work almost daily at the St. Nicholas gymnasium where he prepared for all of his bouts here last winter. He really would prefer to remain there for he says he could work in a cellar and be in shape for Tunney. However, the necessity of the old "ballyhoo" calls for a more elaborate program.

Tunney has set no time for a formal opening at Speculator where he has been rusticated for several weeks. Just now the champion is annoyed by a stone bruise on his heel. A flock of sparring partners will be shipped to him after the middle of the month.

Humbert Fugazy closed late yesterday for the Lomski-Latzo light heavyweight match and will stage it at Ebbets Field on June 13, the date allotted to Lomski and Loughran until a new deal was ordered by the boxing commission.

This is one of the season's "naturals" and should net a handsome profit to Signor Fugazy even though the ringside tax will be only $5.

Race Reigh Count On Chicago Track At Summer Meet

Chicago, June 5. — Reigh Count, the aristocratic little sorrell, which was the first Chicago owned horse to win the Kentucky Derby since 1909, is not to be a prophet without honor in his own country.

Reigh Count is coming here to strut his stuff. Mr. and Mrs. John A. Hertz, Reigh Count's proud owners have promised it. "We will race Reigh Count in Chicago this summer because we want all of our Chicago friends to see him run," Mrs. Hertz announced.

"There were thousands of Chicagoans, of course, who saw him at Louisville, but there are so many other horse lovers here that we are anxious to see him that we are determined that they shall."

"Besides I think there will be a big thrill in it for us to have Reigh Count race here in Chicago where we have known all of our other joys."

"If the American Derby at Arlington had not been scheduled for the same date as the Belmont Stakes we would certainly have entered him. But we feel that West needs representatives in the big race at Belmont, where the pride of the East will run for the biggest purse of the year."

"That's why we are sending him west. And I am sure that he will win."

"A lot of that," added Mr. Hertz, proudly, "will make him undisputed champion of the country."

Cleveland—Plans of the Bell Telephone company to spend $7,000,000 in new construction in Cleveland next year and $450,000 for the enlargement of lines to Lake, Lorain, Geauga, Ashtabula and Medina counties were announced recently.

TRYING TO KEEP TILDEN OUT OF DOUBLES ABROAD

Anti-Bill Element Makes Attempt To Replace Veteran Player

By DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, June 5.—If some of the backstairs rumors being aired today can be accepted as credible, the next contest in the Davis Cup series will not feature the Americans' appearance in the inter-zone finals with the European winner, after all. It will be the usual match between William T. Tilden and the United States Lawn Tennis Association or at least that segment of the organization that is anti-Tilden.

They say this element, headed by Julian S. Myrick, former Davis Cup chairman, is committed to a program that would keep Tilden out of the doubles in both the inter-zone finals and the challenge round with France. Provided the Americans survive that long.

The anti-Tilden forces they say, desire the following line up to hold good through the European campaign: Singles, Tilden and John Hennessey, Indianapolis; doubles, Hennessey and George M. Lott, Chicago; reserves, Francis T. Hunter, New York, who has been acclimating abroad and "Junior" Coen, Kansas City, who is going along just for the ride.

It was the first intimation of this program that prompted Tilden to wire Joseph W. Wear, the present cup chairman, last week asking whether, as alleged, Hunter was to be dropped from consideration without his Tilden's advice and consent as team captain. Wear's reply was distinctly reassuring to those who believe in Tilden and his leadership. The chairman said, in effect, that Tilden's dominance was not in contest, so far as he was concerned.

Make Move Before Saturday

However, Wear cannot speak for the entire committee. If there is to be any attempt to depose Tilden—as the official entries at Wimbledon indicate—it will be made before the team sails for Europe on Saturday, for, if they fail to pin Tilden down before he gets out of ear shot, the chances are that, one word from them and he will do as he pleases. The young man has plenty of fixed ideas and most of them are sound, at that.

If matters work out in this fashion, Tilden may become what he found to be so objectionable in Myrick. He would be the czar of American lawn tennis abroad, the man who will arrange to bring the cup back as a personal triumph or the man who must accept the blame for failure. There can be no doubt that he is being supported to the limit by the Davis Cup chairman and by the team manager, Samuel M. Peacock, both products of Tilden's home town and club.

There isn't any doubt that the opposing factions, if such exist, have reached a difference of opinion honestly. Tilden wants to play with Hunter because he sincerely believes they form the best doubles combination in American tennis, as their record clearly indicates. Those of opposite persuasion grant this but claim that Tilden no longer is able to stand up under three consecutive days of challenge round play.

SISLER GOING GREAT AGAIN

George Finds Himself As First Baseman With Boston Club

New York, June 5.—George Sisler, once the kingpin of American League players has made good as first baseman of the Boston Braves with a celerity unlooked for even by his fondest admirers—and probably no such occurrence has tickled fan-doms' fancy as much since Walter Johnson got into his first world's series.

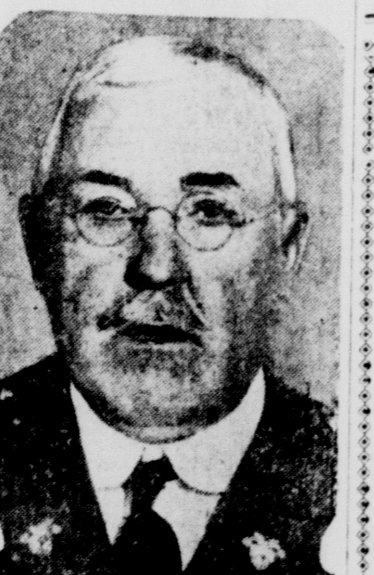

Apparently no longer bothered by sinus trouble, Peerless George has been batting at the healthy rate of .419 in the National League, getting at least one hit in every game. He couldn't hit 100 with Washington. His playing has "made" the Braves, aroused new interest in the fortunes of the team, vindicated the managerial astuteness of Rogers Hornsby and inspired both of the former St. Louis rivals to greater efforts. Nearly every time the sizzler gets on base, the Rajah drives him home.

Yesterday Hornsby's eighth homer of the season, with Sisler on base, staked the Braves to a 5 to 3 win over the Reds in the ninth. Hornsby has been on a home run spree, having delivered five circuit clouts in the past week.

Dressen and Ep Rixey also hit homers for the Reds. Rixey's was his first of the season and he is now one ahead of his last season's record, if memory does not fail us.

In the only other game which Juke Pluvius permitted to be played, the Athletics trounced the White Sox, 6 to 3. Grandpa Ty Cobb socked a triple and a single, driving in three runs, and boosted his batting average above .300.

Army May Go West

Here is Wesley Foster, Washington State College's sensational sprinter, breasting the tape for a new unofficial world's mark of 16.6 for the 175-yard run. Foster, who has been timed in 9.7 for the 100, and 20.8 for the 220-yard dash, is expected to make a name for himself in the Olympic games.

MOVIES

"THE ENEMY"

Hysteria and hatreds bred of war propaganda—these form the "vilain" of one of the most powerful screen dramas the season has seen, and certainly one of the greatest stories Lillian Gish has ever starred in. "The Enemy," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's gripping filmization of the Channing Pollock stage drama, now playing at the State.

It is a story of Austria, laid during and after the war, and is incidentally the most modern role Miss Gish has ever played coming practically up to the present day. Primarily a study in human nature under the lash of war it is told in many delicate intimate touches, together with a powerful climax.

A notable cast appears in the story, under the masterly direction of Fred Niblo. Ralph Forbes, famous for his work in "Beau Geste" and other plays, is seen as Carl, the husband torn from the heroine's arms by war, with Ralph Emerson, a newcomer from the stage as Bruce her English sutor in the story of disrupted nationalities.

Frank Currier as Prof. Arndt, her father and George Fawcett, as the stern old war profiteer have powerful character roles and Karl Dane and Polly Moran add a comedy relief to the tense story. Fritz Ridgway gives a splendid character portrayal as Mitzi who faces disgrace to keep her child from starvation and John S. Peters a splendidly balanced performance as Fritz her husband an Austrian officer. Little Billy Kent Schaeffer plays the child role in a clever manner.

AT THE GRAND

Richard Barthelmess, favorite of screen fans, is at the Grand in his newest First National picture, "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come."

This is the pictureization of the story of the Kentucky mountains by John Fox, Jr. It is an ideal role for Barthelmess, a part much like his "Tobacco David," which endeared him to theatergoers in all parts of the world.

The story deals with the adventures of a mountain boy, homeless and without family ties. It has many thrilling and dramatic moments, and a sweet love story that grips at the heartstrings. While the period covered by the story includes the Civil war, there are no war scenes in the picture.

"The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" was directed by Alfred Santel, who was also at the megaphone for the Barthelmess's great story of the World War, "The Leather Kid." Molly O'Day, his leading lady in that picture, is again seen opposite the star in this film.

A cast of ability has been provided in support of Barthelmess. It includes such well-known players as Claude Gillingwater, David Torrence, Doris Dawson, Martha Mattox, Nelson McDowell Victor Pote, Mark Hamilton, Walter Lewis, Gustav James, Ralph Yearsley, Gustav von Seyffertitz, Bob Milasch, Walter Rogers and Eulalie Jensen.

First National has provided an adequate production, with the beautiful backgrounds of the Kentucky Mountains and the Blue Grass country.

A Delicious New Jam You Can Make from STRAWBERRIES and PINEAPPLE in 15 minutes

This recipe for Mixed Pineapple and Strawberry Jam is very popular.

No finer blend of flavors can be imagined than that of the delicately luscious strawberry with the refreshing tartness of ripe, juicy pineapple. Many women like this recipe, too, for its economy, since the pineapple makes your strawberries go so much further.

Crush to a fine pulp about 1 quart ripe berries. Put pineapple (fresh or canned) through food chopper, or chop very fine. Measure 2 level cups of each fruit into large kettle. In case of slight shortage of one fruit, use enough of the other fruit to make 4 cups total. Add 7 level cups (3 lbs.) sugar and mix well. Use hottest fire and stir constantly before and while boiling. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard for 1 minute. Remove from fire and stir in 1/2 cup Certo. Skim, pour quickly, and cover hot jam at once with hot paraffin wax.

Certo is the natural jellifying substance extracted from fruit, refined and bottled so that you may use it with all fruits to get a quick, perfect "set" without long boiling.

With the delicately flavored pineapple and strawberry the advantages of the Certo method are especially noticeable. For Certo not only makes these difficult fruits perfectly every time, but the short boil, possible only with Certo, prevents the loss of fresh flavor and color which occurs during long boiling.

"Certo way the best way" says eminent cooking expert

Miss Alice Bradley, Principal, Miss Farmer's School of Cookery and Cooking Editor, Woman's Home Companion, says—"One trial will convince you that the best way to make jams and jellies is 'The Certo Way'."

Your grocer has Certo. A book of simple, tested recipes comes under the label of each bottle.

THE HOME KITCHEN

Many Uses For Quick Biscuit

There are many ways of using quick biscuits when they are well made. The queen of them all is the raised biscuit but as few modern housekeepers make their own bread they are as scarce as the once popular raised dumplings, so the next best thing is the quick biscuit. This is the baking powder biscuit.

Sift into a mixing bowl two cupfuls of flour, four level teaspoonfuls of baking powder, a level teaspoonful of salt. Next chop in with a sharp knife a rounded tablespoonful of butter and the same of fresh lard. When mixed add gradually three quarters of a cupful of rich milk and mix lightly until the dough is soft and spongy, then turn onto a floured board. Roll out to three-quarters of an inch thickness cut the desired shape and size with a floured cutter. Place in a buttered baking pan in rows but not touching one another and bake in a brisk oven 12 to 15 minutes. Serve hot or cold.

Cheese biscuits

Make the biscuits as directed and when ready pull them apart. Place the lower halves on a lightly greased tin, sprinkle thickly with grated

American cheese, dust with pepper and salt, put a tiny piece of butter in the center of each and set in the oven long enough to warm, then spread quickly with English mustard and lay on top of the cheese halves and serve on a hot dish.

Chicken Mayonnaise Biscuit

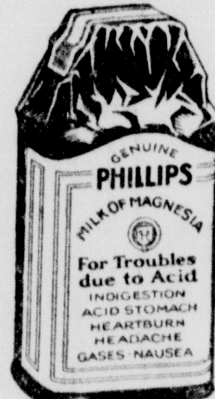

Cut fine the white and dark body meat of a boiled chicken, discarding the skin which may be returned to the broth with the bones. Add to the chicken a cupful of finely minced celery, wipe the mixing bowl with a cut bud of garlic, and fold in enough white heavy mayonnaise to moisten the salad. Have ready a pan of hot biscuits. Pull them apart and butter then fill with the chicken and put on the tops. Serve on a hot plate covered with a napkin as soon as ready the hotter the better.

Chicken Fricassee With Biscuits

Make the fricassee in the usual way, being sure to have a young chicken, and season it well. Make the thickening for the gravy and add after lifting the chicken to a hot plate. Pull as many hot biscuits apart as will be needed to circle the chicken then strain the gravy over all. An onion and a few stalks of celery cooked with the chicken will improve the flavor.

When Pain Comes

Two hours after eating

What many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food cures. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly, and the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle! Milk of Magnesia prescribed by tie—any druggist.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of the Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875. Adv.

When Platforms Are In Making Is Time For All Good Men To Come To Aid of Party

Washington, June 5.—With the major carnage of the presidential nominations humbly accomplished in a series of minor operations in widely separated states during the last six months, politicians look for the principal bursting of blood vessels at Kansas City and Houston in the next few days in the feverish labors of platform building.

"The great safety valve of American politics," a celebrated British historian once called the strenuous and involved proceeding which every four years whips into unity again the two great parties. The mechanism of the operations will be the same as has ruled in party conventions for 50 years, but it is traditional that every quadrennium witnesses new and unimagined manifestations of the accompanying fire and thunder.

Strong men faint when their plank for the compulsory teaching of Esperanto is rejected by the committee on resolutions. Nervous women grow calm and full of poise as they appeal for a department of maternity with a chief in the president's cabinet. A gentleman from Nebraska would abolish daylight saving by national fiat, and the professor from Peawit College demands a strong declaration for the metric system in weights and measures.

Writing Platforms

The men who write the platforms are selected by the causes of the state delegations, during the two or three days immediately preceding the assembling of the convention.

Each delegation designates one of its number for the committee on resolutions. The full committee is called together for organization the day the convention opens, with the chairman of the national committee as the temporary presiding officer. The full committee selects its permanent chairman and then appoints a sub-committee, usually of not more than half a dozen members, to actually write the text of the platform.

The sub-committee conducts public hearings on as many controversial subjects as time will permit, generally two or three days. It is this stage of the operation which affords the great safety-valve of the American political system. Many a cause finds a court only at the party conventions. And many a cause is continued from generation by one day of triumph in every four years. The gold standard is abolished, freight rates are wiped out, education revitalized with the mere reading of a brief from the National Association to Do Something Now. Crime is checked with much pounding on the committee table and the nation given a new lease on life by the split infinitives of a plank advocating a garden in every backyard.

Finished Document

Through with the public hearings the drafting sub-committee takes a typewriter into executive session late in the afternoon of the third day, broods and snarls and drinks black coffee over phraseology all through the night, and so emerges with the sun of the fourth day with the greatest American institution, the party platform.

Bleary eyed and brain weary, the drafting committee submits its draft to the full committee on resolutions, plank by plank. Here again minorities find a voice. "We denounced in unmeasured terms," becomes at the hands of the full committee, "We deplore the tendency." Here is achieved the moderation, compromise and restraint which are the peculiar characteristics of American politics. Here the platform is built comma by comma, with every shade of opinion and feeling, every condition of life, every school of economic and political thought in free play against every other for its own advancement. The elements in him are so mixed indeed that all the world might stand up and say, "This is the United States."

But the softening of adjectives and the distribution of semi-colons is not the end of the full committee's labors of the fourth day, for here it is, also, that the profound and vital issues of the party are generally shouted out. It was at this stage that the great "Gold Plank" of the Republican convention in '96 was finally written.

When Bryan Prayed

It was at this stage of the Democratic convention in 1924 that William Jennings Bryan in the darkness just before dawn dropped to his knees to lead the committee in a prayer for divine intervention in the hopeless deadlock on the Ku Klux Klan plank. It was in the full committee meeting of 1890 that the Republicans for the first time in American history dragged slavery from the limbo of political unmentionables. It was in the full committee meetings of 1916 that America first seriously reached herself on the World War. It was here four years later, that prohibition was called for the first time everything it has since been called.

At the sunset of the fourth day if all differences have not been ironed out in the full committee the dissatisfied minority meets at evening to frame its substitute plank and minority report, and the fifth day brings the fight to the convention floor.

After disposing of the question presented in the minority report, the convention approves the majority report and the party is then ready to proceed with nominating candidates.

Bring on the lions. Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party.
